THE safe recently placed in the City Treasurer's office has a bad history. It was originally owned by Edwards & Thomas, the Paola bankers, who had $120,000 on deposit on a $400 capital, and were a short time ago sent to the State prison for two years for obtaining money under false pretences. The safe was sold at assignce's sale, the City of Leavenworth being the purchaser. It was placed in the Treasurer's office, and the first deposit made in it was the money taken off the supposed murderer. Wounded.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—This afternoon two colored men somewhat intoxicated, got on the down passenger train at Greensburg, Indiana. When the conductor was coming round demanding tickets, one of the men manifested a disposition to play with the conductor and to delay matters by handing him pieces of paper. The patience of the conductor gave out and he stopped the train and put both men off by force, though it appears that the second party had not participated in the delay, and after the bell had rung agreed, according to the statement of a passenger, to pay his fare. This so enraged the second man that he drew a revolver and discharged it twice at the conductor, the ball taking effect in his hip. They were finally induced to come on the train, but manifesting a disposition for further fight the brakeman undertook to knock one of the men down with a stone. This failed and the men down with a stone. This failed and the latter again discharged his pistol; this time at the brakeman, though without effect. The two men were finally arrested and sent back to Greensburg. The conductor was seriously though not dangerously wounded.

TERRIBLE TRACEDY IN PORTER COUNTY, INDIANA.

Horrible Murder of Charles St. Joh The Murderer Kills Mimself.

[From the Indianapolis Journal.] VALPARAISO, IND., Nov. 14. A terrible tragedy was committed last Saturday evening, about five miles from this city, at the farm house of Mr. Charles St. John, an old and respected resident of this county, who was shet through the head, and almost instantly killed, by a rifle bullet fired through the window by a young man named George Lopher. The circumstances connected with the murder are substantially as follows: Some the murder are substantially as follows: Some time in April last young Lopher took a job of cleaning a piece of land for Mr. St. John, and continued to work for his employer till about two weeks since, when a settlement of their accounts was had, which appears to have been unsatisfactory to young Lopher, who remarked, soon afterward, "that he had a good mind to split the old fellow's head of the split the old fellow's head a good mind to split the old

On Friday last the young man went to the house of his uncle, Mr. Rosencrans, living a few miles south of Valparaiso, with whom he has a younger brother and sister living, and borrowed his uncle's rifle, saying he was going hunting. He remained over night cretion, attended with the following symp with the family, and in the morning came with them to this city. He was seen on the ing a passage in the wagon of a neighbor reached the farm of St. John in the early Florence to present the Spanish crown to the Duke of Aosta. The elevation of Aosta is highly popular throughout the provinces. No disorder followed his proclamation, though the Government had reasons to believe that as his candidature was unpopular in and they both soon afterward returned in company. The young man seemed to be out of humor, but sat down with the family an took supper. At the conclusion of the meal Lopher inquired of Mr. St. John if he had read the account of the child lately born with two heads. Mr. St. John replied that he had not. The young man then took out a paper, and throwing it on the table, said gruffly, "you'll find it in there." Mr. St. John drew the lamp to him, opened the pa-John drew the lamp to him, opened the pa-per and began to read. A little daughter set eside him anxious to hear something of the strange child which George had spoken of Lopher then stepped out of the house, and running up to Mandlin's said, hurriedly, he wanted his gun. He was told where he would find it. As soon as he had gained possession of his rifle he started out, and few moments afterward the neighbora residing in the vicinity were startled with the report of the gun, followed soon afterward with the screams of Mrs. St. John and the family. It appears that the assassin had shot the man through the window, the ball entering the left temple, carrying away both eyes and mangling him in a most horrible man
